EMILIA-ROMAGNA and its surroundings

Emilia-Romagna is a remarkably varied territory where the Apennine Mountains, historic villages, art cities, wetlands and a deeply rooted food and wine culture come together within relatively short distances.

In the Casentinesi Forests National Park, ancient UNESCO-recognised beech forests and extensive mountain woodland create one of the most impressive natural areas of the Apennine Mountains. Nearby, Ridracoli Lake, a large reservoir surrounded by forested slopes, adds a striking water landscape to the mountain environment. The Savio river valley then leads towards Cesena, a historic town with important Renaissance heritage, and Bagno di Romagna, a thermal spa town whose waters have been appreciated since Roman times.

Towards the Adriatic Sea, the landscape changes again. Ravenna is internationally known for its extraordinary early Christian and Byzantine mosaics, while Bologna combines historic squares, UNESCO-listed porticoes and a celebrated food culture. Further east, the historic salt pans of Cervia and Comacchio lagoons and wetlands of the Po Delta Park create a landscape shaped by water, where flamingos, herons and many migratory birds can be observed. Continuing north, the route reaches Chioggia, a traditional fishing town, and finally Venice.

Nature, culture and gastronomy are closely connected throughout the region. Local wines, handmade filled pasta, traditional flatbreads, seasonal truffles, seafood from the Adriatic Sea and artisan food products can be combined with winery visits, tastings and meetings with local producers, helping travellers understand the territory through its flavours as well as its landscapes.

Giratlantide can arrange and manage all transfers, from airports and railway stations to accommodation, tour starting points and other locations included in the programme. Cesena is the main gateway to the area and the reference point for all our tours. By car, it is approximately 20 minutes from Forlì Airport, 30 minutes from Rimini Airport and 1 hour from Bologna Airport. Cesena is also around 30 minutes by car from Rimini and Ravenna, and approximately 1 hour from Bologna.

APENNINE MOUNTAINS

A guided MTB and e-MTB journey through the Apennine Mountains, combining forest trails, mountain landscapes and active days outdoors with the thermal tradition and local flavours of inland Romagna.

The experience is based around Bagno di Romagna, a historic thermal spa town surrounded by mountains and forests, and the spectacular Ridracoli reservoir, whose blue waters lie among the wooded slopes of the Casentinesi Forests National Park. Ancient chestnut woods, protected forests and panoramic mountain routes create a varied natural setting for four days of riding.

This is an active holiday where cycling is combined with time to slow down and enjoy the destination, from thermal waters and local food to wine tasting and experiences connected with the lake and surrounding natural environment.

DAY 01 - BAGNO DI ROMAGNA ◀▶ 40km ▲ 1300m

Arrival in Bagno di Romagna, a historic thermal spa town in the Apennine Mountains. Its naturally warm waters have been appreciated since Roman times and make the town an ideal base for combining outdoor activity and relaxation. The first day allows travellers to settle into the mountain environment, discover the town and prepare for the cycling programme ahead.

DAY 02 - BAGNO DI ROMAGNA ◀▶ 54km ▲ 1600m

The first guided ride enters the wooded landscapes surrounding Bagno di Romagna, following off-road trails through chestnut woods, rural areas and quiet mountain surroundings. The route offers a varied introduction to the local terrain, alternating forest sections with more open landscapes and views across the surrounding hills. It is an immersive first day on the bike, combining physical activity with the slower rhythm of the Apennine Mountains.

DAY 03 - MONTE FUMAIOLO ◀▶ 40km ▲ 1300m

The route climbs towards the higher areas of the Apennine Mountains, reaching the landscape around Monte Fumaiolo. Forest tracks, mountain scenery and wider panoramic sections characterise the ride as the altitude gradually increases. The day combines a more demanding cycling experience with the opportunity to explore one of the most distinctive highland environments of the area.

DAY 04 - RIDRACOLI ◀▶ 47km ▲ 1600m

The journey continues towards Ridracoli, where a large reservoir is surrounded by the forests of the Casentinesi Forests National Park. The ride passes through dense woodland and mountain landscapes, with striking views towards the water and the surrounding forested slopes. The protected natural environment is the main feature of the day, offering one of the most scenic and immersive stages of the programme.

DAY 05 - RIDRACOLI ◀▶ 50km ▲ 1600m

The final ride explores the quieter side of Ridracoli, combining forest tracks with views over the reservoir and its dramatic dam. After the ride, the experience can continue with a canoe or boat excursion on the lake, a guided visit inside the dam, or simply some time to relax in Bagno di Romagna's thermal waters.

CASENTINESI FOREST NATIONAL PARK

A four-day guided e-MTB journey through the Casentinesi Forests National Park, a vast protected area between Romagna and Tuscany and one of the most impressive natural environments of the Apennine Mountains.

Ancient beech forests, centuries-old fir woods, high mountain pastures and panoramic ridges create a constantly changing landscape. The route reaches 1,658 metres and combines challenging climbs, forest tracks and off-road descents with the experience of travelling through an exceptionally well-preserved natural environment.

Cycling is complemented by cultural and nature experiences along the route, including an ancient Benedictine abbey, a centuries-old forest hermitage, historic routes once used for timber transport and opportunities to observe wildlife in its natural habitat.

DAY 01 - SAN BENEDETTO IN ALPE - CAMPIGNA ◀▶ 36km ▲ 1600m

The journey begins with a visit to the atmospheric crypt of an ancient Benedictine abbey before entering the Casentinesi Forests National Park by bike. Open mountain pastures gradually give way to magnificent beech forests and panoramic ridges between Romagna and Tuscany. Cultural discovery and cycling come together from the very first stage, introducing both the natural and historic character of these mountains.

DAY 02 - CAMPIGNA - BADIA PRATAGLIA ◀▶ 39km ▲ 1550m

The ride climbs to the highest point of the tour at 1,658 metres, opening onto wide views across the Apennine Mountains before returning beneath the forest canopy. Along the way, a visit to a centuries-old hermitage hidden deep in the woods offers a very different experience from the ride itself. Mountain scenery, spiritual heritage and forest trails make this one of the most varied days of the journey.

DAY 03 - BADIA PRATAGLIA - CORNIOLO ◀▶ 52km ▲ 1400m

The route follows a former railway once used to transport timber through the forests, adding an unusual glimpse into the history of life and work in these mountains. The ride continues through extensive beech woodland towards some of the most pristine areas of the Casentinesi Forests National Park. Open highland pastures provide panoramic views and opportunities to observe deer and other wildlife in their natural environment.

DAY 04 - CORNIOLO - SAN BENEDETTO IN ALPE ◀▶ 51km ▲ 1500m

The final stage alternates wooded climbs, panoramic ridges and a long off-road descent through the Apennine Mountains. Along the way, the route reaches a small historic mountain village, offering time to experience the quieter human side of this protected landscape. The combination of traditional settlements, forests and open mountain views provides a fitting conclusion to four days of cycling and discovery.

ADRIATIC SEA & SAVIO VALLEY

A three-day guided e-bike loop combining the Adriatic Sea coast with the rolling hills of the Savio Valley. Starting and finishing in Cesena, the journey moves through very different landscapes: riverside cycleways, coastal wetlands, cultivated countryside, vineyards and wooded hills.

The first day reaches Cervia and the historic salt pans of the Po Delta Park before returning to Cesena along a different cycle route. The following two days explore the inland valley towards Sarsina, combining cycling with Renaissance and Roman heritage, historic religious sites and local food and wine experiences.

How to get there:

Cesena is the main gateway to the tour area, well connected by road and rail, and within a 20- to 60-minute drive from Forlì, Rimini, Ravenna, and Bologna. Giratlantide can arrange all transfers from arrival points.

DAY 01 - CESENA - CESENATICO - CESENA ◀▶ 59km ▲ 128m

From Cesena, the route follows the cycleway along the Savio River towards Cervia and the Adriatic Sea. In Cervia, the experience can include a visit to the historic salt pans of the Po Delta Park, where traditional sea-salt production, wetlands and birdlife create a distinctive natural landscape. The return follows the coast towards Cesenatico before turning inland along the Pisciatello cycleway, a green corridor through the countryside leading back to Cesena.

ESTIMATED SURFACE: 35% ASPHALT • 50% GRAVEL • 15% UNPAVED

DAY 02 - CESENA - SARSINA ◀▶ 46km ▲ 1200m

Leaving Cesena, the ride enters the rolling landscapes of the Savio Valley through vineyards, cultivated fields and woodland. Sections of an ancient pilgrimage route lead past historic churches and religious sites before reaching Sarsina, a small town with important Roman origins. The cycling experience can be complemented by a winery visit or tasting, creating a closer connection with the agricultural and food traditions of the valley.

SURFACE: 40% ASPHALT • 40% GRAVEL • 20% UNPAVED

DAY 03 - SARSINA - CESENA ◀▶ 48km ▲ 1400m

The return journey towards Cesena crosses the rural heart of Romagna, combining quiet roads, gravel sections and gentle climbs through farmland, vineyards and wooded landscapes. Back in Cesena, the experience can conclude with a visit to its perfectly preserved 15th-century Renaissance library, included in UNESCO's Memory of the World Register. Local cuisine provides a final opportunity to experience the cultural identity of the territory.

SAVIO VALLEY

A three-day guided road cycling journey through the Savio Valley, following a 172 km circular route from Cesena into the Apennine Mountains and back.

Entirely on asphalt, the route combines panoramic climbs and descents with vineyards, historic towns, thermal waters and mountain landscapes. Some sections follow the same roads where legendary Italian cyclist Marco Pantani used to train, adding another dimension to a territory with a strong cycling tradition. The Grand Tour received the Italian Green Road Award 2022 and can be combined with complementary experiences such as winery visits, local food tastings, cultural heritage and thermal relaxation.

DAY 01 - CESENA - BAGNO DI ROMAGNA ◀▶ 52km ▲ 850m

The journey begins in Cesena, home to a perfectly preserved Renaissance library recognised by UNESCO. Following the river upstream, the route gradually climbs through vineyards and a lively hill town famous for its local wines. After a quiet stop at a thousand-year-old basilica, the day ends in Bagno di Romagna, a spa town at the gateway to the Casentinesi Forests National Park, where thermal waters enjoyed since Roman times and a dinner of traditional mountain dishes await.

DAY 02 - BAGNO DI ROMAGNA - MOUNT FUMAILOLO ◀▶ 22km ▲ 1500m

The road climbs towards the border with Tuscany and up to Mount Fumaiolo, the highest point of the tour. Here, just a few kilometres apart, two rivers are born: one of them is the Tiber, which flows all the way to Rome. Ancient forests, mountain pastures and dramatic cliffs surround the climb, and a long, rewarding descent closes the day.

DAY 03 - RUBICON HILLS - CESENA ◀▶ 98km ▲ 982m

The final stage crosses gentle hills and authentic villages above the Rubicon valley. The highlight is a small hilltop village crowned by a heart-shaped fortress, with views stretching across olive groves and vineyards all the way to the Adriatic Sea. From here the route rolls gently back to Cesena, where the journey ends with the flavours of traditional Romagna cuisine, from handmade pasta to local cured meats and cheeses.

the ancient salt route to Venice

THROUGH THE ADRIATIC SEA

A four-day guided cycling journey from the Adriatic Sea coast to Venice, following the historic route once used by traditional boats to transport Cervia's sea salt north towards the Venetian Republic.

Almost completely flat, the itinerary crosses coastal forests, salt pans, lagoons and fishing valleys within the Po Delta Park, one of Italy's most important wetland environments. The changing landscapes offer excellent opportunities for birdwatching, while historic towns and fishing communities reveal the strong relationship between local life and water. Cycling is combined with nature, local seafood traditions and cultural experiences, before a memorable final approach to Venice that alternates riding with ferry crossings across the Venetian Lagoon.

DAY 01 - CERVIA - COMACCHIO ◀▶ 88km

The journey begins in Cervia, among historic salt pans where sea salt is still produced using traditional methods, before continuing through coastal forests and the natural environments surrounding Ravenna. The route then enters the wetlands of the Po Delta Park, riding along a spectacular cycleway surrounded by lagoon waters. The day ends in Comacchio, a small historic town characterised by canals, bridges and a centuries-old relationship with fishing.

DAY 02 - COMACCHIO - PORTO TOLLE ◀▶ 65km

Leaving Comacchio, the route follows the Adriatic Sea coast through wetlands, coastal woodland and some of the most important natural areas of the Po Delta Park. Brackish lagoons provide habitats for numerous bird species and support traditional shellfish farming, offering an opportunity to discover the close connection between nature and local food production. The journey continues north through a landscape shaped almost entirely by water.

DAY 03 - PORTO TOLLE - CHIOGGIA ◀▶ 76km

The third stage crosses the northern wetlands of the Po Delta Park, following embankments between lagoons, fishing valleys and wide open water landscapes. Birdlife, traditional fishing activities and the quiet atmosphere of the Delta accompany much of the ride. The day ends in Chioggia, a historic fishing town whose canals, bridges and colourful waterfront reveal a distinctive side of the Venetian Lagoon.

DAY 04 - CHIOGGIA - VENEZIA ◀▶ 47km

The final stage alternates cycling with ferry crossings through the Venetian Lagoon, offering an unusual and scenic approach to Venice. Historic lagoon settlements and stretches of coastline accompany the route before reaching the Lido, from where the journey continues towards the city. After four days travelling through salt pans, wetlands, coastal landscapes and fishing communities, Venice provides a memorable conclusion to the journey.

Italy's wetland birdwatching safari

PO DELTA PARK

A three-day guided private birdwatching experience through the wetlands of the Po Delta Park, exploring flooded forests, lagoons, river mouths and open wetland landscapes with an expert nature guide. The journey is organised in a private van, creating a safari-style experience that allows the group to move easily between different habitats and selected observation areas throughout the day. The objective is an exciting one: to identify around 100 bird species in three days, combining visual observation with the recognition of calls and songs.

Flamingos, herons, ducks, geese, birds of prey and migratory species are among the wildlife that can be encountered depending on the season. At the end of the experience, participants receive a photographic record of the tour together with a checklist of all species seen and heard. E-bike and canoe excursions can also be included as optional ways of exploring selected wetland environments from a different perspective.

TECHNICAL INFO

Duration: 3 days / 2 nights

Activity: Private guided birdwatching safari

Area: Po Delta Park - Ravenna and Ferrara wetlands

Group size: Small groups

Transport: Private van throughout the programme

Guide: Professional nature guide

Target: Around 100 bird species in 3 days

Price from: 1.500€

Minimum group size: 4

How to get there:

Ravenna is approximately 30 minutes by car from Cesena.

DAY 01 - RAVENNA WETLANDS

The safari begins in the wetlands around Ravenna, exploring a remarkable flooded forest and nearby lagoon environments by private van and on foot with the nature guide. Different stops are selected according to the season and current bird activity, with guidance on identification, behaviour and calls throughout the experience. For groups wishing to explore the landscape in a more active way, an e-bike ride or canoe excursion through the wetlands can be added to the programme.

DAY 02 - EXCLUSIVE BOAT TOUR PO DELTA PARK

The private van takes the group north through the Po Delta Park to explore river-mouth habitats, lagoons and some of the most important birdwatching areas of the Delta. A private boat excursion provides the opportunity to observe birdlife directly from the water before continuing to other selected observation points. The day includes exclusive access to a protected peninsula where a major Greater Flamingo colony can be observed in an exceptional natural setting.

DAY 03 - PO DELTA PARK

The final day explores another series of wetlands and open landscapes within the Po Delta Park, moving between observation areas by private van according to wildlife activity and seasonal conditions. Raptors, herons, ducks, geese and other wetland species become part of the final search towards the three-day goal of around 100 species. The experience concludes with a complete checklist of the birds seen and heard during the journey, together with photographs from the tour.
